

Denominación del curso: Living together (A1-1)
Código del curso:	43391340/ 43391341/ 41200001/ 41200051	Número de créditos	2/3	Tipo de curso	B
Naturaleza académica: Transversal y vida universitaria (Teórica y práctica)
Prerrequisitos exigidos: Ninguno			Correquisitos exigidos: N/A
El curso es prerrequisito de: Beyond my culture (A1-2)
Finalidad del curso:
In this course, thanks to the interaction with a variety of people with experience in different backgrounds and interests, our learners will acquire essential communicative skills in everyday English (in addition to the formal aspects of the language), with a particular focus on interpersonal and work relationships. We hope to help bring more self-awareness to our students to heighten their level of civic consciousness and capacity to contribute to society.
Competencias generales:		RAE:
Segunda lengua (inglés)		GI0020C101: Students identify words, phrases, and sentences of everyday use in short, clear, and simple speeches that refer to themselves, their family, and their contexts at an elementary A1 level. GI0020H102: Students communicate in an elementary way with their interlocutor, in short formal or informal conversations, as long as they are slow. GI0020A101: Students recognize their place of origin and personal aspects in contrast to other people with different nationalities and customs. GI0060H101: From a multicultural perspective, students value the social, political, and economic diversity that every citizen has in favour of coexistence.
Ciudadana		GI0060A101: Students reflect upon the essential values of respect, responsibility, and community life through simple spoken language tools.
Ética		GI0082H101: Learners express their perspectives on common ethical issues using information from a variety of sources and distinguish them from social, economic, environmental, political, and other issues.
Red conceptual:

Conceptos mínimos para trabajar y formulación del problema general del cual se ocupará el curso:

CONCEPTS		USE OF ENGLISH
		Communicative Skills	Communicative Functions	Grammar	Lexical
People: Classmates, Friends, family, colleagues, acquaintances	Places Countries, Cities, Jobs	Receptive Skills: Listening and reading	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Giving and requesting personal information ▪ Describing people, daily activities, places, and customs ▪ Introducing self and others ▪ Giving instructions. ▪ Spelling out names. ▪ Giving and requesting information 	Personal pronouns, Verb be, Present simple tense, adjectives, indefinite and definite articles singular and plural nouns, irregular plural nouns, adverbs of frequency, possessive adjectives, prepositions of place,	The alphabet, countries and nationalities, numbers 1-100, greetings, classroom language, personal information, Family members, routines, people, occupations, months, clothes, weather, special occasions, places in a town, the time, abilities, possessions, adjectives, time
		Productive Skills: Writing and speaking

			on telephone numbers and the time <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Talking about occupations, habits, and routines ▪ Expressing likes, hobbies, and interests 	demonstrative adjectives, the modal auxiliary verb can, there is/there are and present progressive.	expressions and useful expressions.
--	--	--	--	--	--

In English-speaking countries, the common topics of conversation when people first meet are nationalities, occupations, and family. Therefore, learners will be exposed to the language they need to ask and give personal information, and describe people and different occupations. In addition, they will reflect on their role in contributing to peaceful coexistence in different contexts through the development of the class project.

The course problem is “values to improve family life”: Students will make a brochure or poster about strategies or actions to improve family life. First, they will gather information related to family members, interests, and jobs according to the topics studied in class. Then, they will describe their family dynamics and reflect on them, and finally, they will propose values that foster their family life. Consequently, the course's essential question is: What are the most important values contributing to family life?

Dispositivo(s) pedagógico(s) sugerido(s)

- Workshops
- Role-plays
- Simulations
- Debates
- Case studies

Estrategias pedagógicas e instruccionales

- Task-based learning
- Project-based learning
- Game-based learning

Criterios para evaluar cada RAE		Acciones y producciones de los estudiantes a los que se aplicarán los criterios
Segunda lengua (inglés): GI0020C101: Students identify words, phrases, and sentences of everyday use in short, clear,	1. Students extract information from readings, recordings, and videos to identify elementary expressions and words about	Students' performance is assessed through a variety of reading and listening exercises (filling in the blanks, matching activities, comprehension

and simple speeches that refer to themselves, their family, and their contexts at an elementary A1 level.	people, family, friends, jobs, cities, daily life, and sports. 2. Learners use elementary expressions and words to talk about people, family, friends, jobs, cities, daily life and sports.	questions, etc.) according to topics studied in each learning path.
Segunda lengua (inglés): GI0020H102: Students communicate in an elementary way with their interlocutor, in short formal or informal conversations, as long as they are slow.	1. Learners describe sports and leisure activities considering the assessment rubric criteria: pronunciation, vocabulary, fluency, accuracy and task completion. 2. Students use expressions and words to talk about people, family, friends, jobs, cities, daily life and sports.	Students will have conversations and role-play about sports and leisure activities. They can also give oral presentations and make videos.
Segunda lengua (inglés): GI0020A101: Students recognise their place of origin and personal aspects in contrast to other people with different nationalities and customs.	1. Students identify different nationalities and countries in comparison to their place of origin. 2. Learners use vocabulary related to nationalities and countries.	Learners will be assessed through reading and listening comprehension tasks.
Ciudadana: GI0060H101: From a multicultural perspective, students value the social, political, and economic diversity that every citizen has in favour of coexistence.	1. Students participate in a simulation of a situation in the city to demonstrate the value of respect by making a queue in a bank, at a restaurant, or at a bus stop. 2. Learners describe professions and the characteristics of an excellent professional.	Learners demonstrate this learning outcome through role-plays and graphic organisers of professions and the characteristics of an outstanding professional.
Ciudadana: GI0060A101: Students reflect upon the essential values of respect, responsibility, and community life through simple spoken language tools.	1. Students recommend and suggest actions of coexistence in specific contexts such as the workplace. For example, solidarity in the workplace.	Pupils participate in conversations by giving recommendations and suggestions about handling actions of coexistence in specific contexts such as the workplace.

	2. Learners explain what values they consider important to contribute to family life.	Students will develop their projects in the following stages: Project - phase 1 Planning, the rationale (statement of purpose/ intent), identifying the problematic issues and objectives and project timeline. Project -phase 2 Create a set of strategies for executing the project, materials, roles, and development of the project. Project – phase 3 Presenting and reflecting Examples of products: Brochure or poster about ethical values for improving family life
Ética: GI0082H101: Learners express their perspectives on common ethical issues using information from a variety of sources and distinguish them from social, economic, environmental, political, and other issues.	1. Learners describe a member of their family and highlight their most important values, (for example, he is honest, responsible, he isn't punctual etc). 2. Students participate in a simulation of a situation in the city to demonstrate the value of respect by making a queue in a bank, at a restaurant, or at a bus stop.	Students carry out a presentation/video describing a member of their family and highlighting their most important values.
Bibliografía: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Milner Martin and Jenkins Rob. (2018). World English, National Geographic Learning and Cengage Learning. • Sayer Mike, Lambrick Gabrielle, Mauchline Fiona and Lewis Sarah J. (2018). Life, National Geographic Learning. 		